
A framework is replaceable only when replacing it does not require migrating enterprise truth.